

Susanne Krogmann

Susanne Krogmann, born [redacted], holds a diploma in Economics from Georg-August-University at Göttingen, Germany. She then went on to study European Integration at the College of Europe, Bruges, Belgium.

She started her career at the Treuhandanstalt, the state-owned agency responsible for the privatization of the enterprises and assets of former Democratic Republic of Germany. During her five years at the Treuhandanstalt Susanne Krogmann worked in the controlling and in the contract management department. For the last 2 years there she held the position as key account manager for several companies in the chemical industry.

Susanne Krogmann joined Deutsche Telekom in 1999. For more than 8 years she worked on different positions in the Regulatory and Public Affairs division, especially in the field of regulatory economics and regulatory strategy. She then took over the position as head of the group "Corporate Responsibility Strategy and Controlling", where she developed a new Corporate Responsibility strategy for DT group. Following the increasing awareness of data security and data protection at Deutsche Telekom she then worked in a data security project with her personal focus on customer data security.

Since the end of 2009 she holds the position as Vice President Corporate Governance Europe within Board Area Europe at Deutsche Telekom.

From 2011 she is member of the Board of Directors of Crnogorski Telekom.
